MBA employment report
GRADUATING CLASS OF 2019

London Business School
Introduction from the Head of Career Centre

We are delighted that 92% of our latest MBA graduates have accepted job offers within three months of graduation.

Demand for London Business School (LBS) talent continues to transcend borders, sectors and markets. The class – who encompass more than 60 nationalities – took up roles in 41 different countries across the globe, with 46% choosing to start their post-programme careers in the UK.

Consulting remained the leading sector of choice with 40% of graduates choosing the sector, with finance second most popular at 26%. A further 28 graduates are using their entrepreneurial skillsets developed through their MBA to pursue their own business ventures. Technology also remains an attractive destination for our graduates, with 37% of our first-year MBA's choosing to complete internships in this sector.

Our students join us from a variety of backgrounds, and offering them stimulating and customised experiences is at the heart of what we do. Our MBA is designed to ensure students have the time and space to explore different options and reflect on their experiences. Our Career and Professional Development programme is customised to meet our students' personal interests and achieve their desired career outcomes. Most recently, we have added resources to our Career Centre team specifically to support our students aiming for careers outside the UK.

We congratulate our MBA class of 2019 on their success so far. Our students continue to distinguish themselves as world-class talent in a competitive job market, and we look forward to watching their impact both on the companies that have recruited them, and the business world at large.

“In the short time since I graduated from London Business School in summer 2019, I’ve joined a global leadership development programme at the insurance company MetLife. The programme has three rotations, giving me the opportunity to work across different markets around the world. Right now, I’m in my first rotation, based in Dubai as Director of EMEA Strategy – a role I believe I wouldn't be in if it weren't for LBS.”

Grace Ortelere, MBA2019, Director - EMEA Strategy, MetLife

The employment rate is calculated in compliance with MBA Career Services and Employer Alliance (MBA CSEA) reporting standards. Students returning to their sponsoring employers are not included in the rate.

"The resources the School offers are fantastic. There is direct access to faculty, who gave me advice on potential career paths. There is also the variety of workshops and clubs which further expanded both my personal and professional horizons. Finally, the proximity and connections to London and all its world-leading organisations is truly unrivalled."

London Business School MBA employment report 2019
Introduction

The MBA introduced me to my co-founders, stress-tested our venture, connected us to seed funding, and gave us the confidence to take the risks required for the survival of our business. It also exposed me to the ambiguity of a quickly changing world. From it, I took away a pivotal learning: nobody on this planet knows what they’re doing. Those who make a difference are simply those willing to step into the ambiguity and stay focused. Staying focused on my goals would have been impossible without the support of counsellors and mentors in Career Centre, who helped me zoom out of the chaos and step into unknowns.

John Witt, MBA2019, Co-founder and CEO, Stotles

About the Career Centre

The mission of Career Centre is to provide students with customised career support through career coaching, career and professional development, career insights and career and networking opportunities.

Many of our Career Centre experts have extensive coaching or commercial experience. They partner with students to develop a career plan that helps to shape their career goals.

Comprehensive career support

- Career coaching. The opportunity to self-assess and reflect on capabilities and preferences from both career and leadership perspectives
- Career and Professional Development. A blended digital and in-person curriculum providing students and alumni with skills required to effect career progressions
- Career opportunities. Access to a wide range of career and networking opportunities
- Career insights. Insight into global, regional and country-specific trends as well as sector and corporate hiring.

Specialist coaches and career advisors

The Career Centre comprises 50 permanent staff, many of whom have real-world coaching or commercial experience to help students achieve their career goals. Team members include:

Zoe McLoughlin has 20 years’ experience in recruitment and talent acquisition. Before joining LBS as Head of Consulting, she was the International Recruiting Manager at Boston Consulting Group. Prior to this, she was the Marketing and Admissions Manager at LBS for the MBA programme.

David Morris is head of technology careers and has been with LBS since 2005. Prior to LBS, he worked within the London startup scene and continues to be active in this space through running the NewCo London festival and being a member of Tech London Advocates.

Richard Bland has 21 years’ experience in banking, the last 10 as a rates trader for Deutsche Bank. He joined LBS in 2009 to oversee the banking sector, and now looks after the private equity and real estate sectors.

Alyona Segline joined the LBS Career Centre from LVMH Perfumes and Cosmetics. She is an experienced commercial director with a demonstrated history of success working across luxury cosmetics, mass accessories and the FMCG industry. Her role at LBS is to develop relationships with employers across diversified sectors and provide students with support and insights on potential career paths within this vast landscape of organisations.

Eli Lefterova is a qualified career coach with a background in talent management and campus recruitment within banking and financial services. Passionate about helping individuals crystallise and achieve their career objectives, Eli co-leads on the design and delivery of an innovative career development offering for MBA students at LBS.

Anne Alaoui is a qualified and experienced coach who supports students towards clarity, insight and action. She has a background in financial services including in debt capital markets at Deutsche Bank and corporate finance at KPMG. Anne co-leads on the design and delivery of the career development offering for MBA students at LBS.
